

Los Angeles Fresh Market, Los Angeles CA

www.slarry.com - AP2011Y

What I like about it is a lot of the market is outdoors. There are many stores or restaurants, but they all are packed together and local. A great atmosphere for a Saturday. To go with the freshness of the food or markets/stores, the design of the complex makes most things outside. It almost has a feeling you're in a different country once you walk in.

It was very enjoyable to go and I wish Norman had something like this to where there was more interacting with people and their local businesses in a close environment like this. I want to be able to move to California in the near future, hopefully the San Jose/San Francisco Area.

Post #6-Bryce Lewis

Architecture for Non Majors

<http://sp2017.thedude.oucreate.com>

