

Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art

This museum means so much to me. I come here whenever I need to think clearly and calm down when things get a little too stressful for me. I've been here enough times for the artwork to become familiar, but being in this quiet place always gives me a sense of peace.

The art collections in this museum may seem small but it is wholesome. And the new exhibitions are always fun to see.

The exterior is just as beautiful as the art inside. I like the symmetry of the cube-shaped buildings with its pyramid roof tops. It stands out among the other building around campus since its has such a light color palette, contrasting against the red brick buildings.
